D. H. Lawrence wrote these three novelettes between November 1920 and December 1921. They were enthusiastically received by his English publisher and his readers. The ending of the first version of The Fox, written in December 1918, is given in an appendix. Lawrence added a long tail two years later, expanding the story to about three times its original length. The Ladybird also started out as a short story but was completely rewritten. Two manuscript pages omitted by the typist are here included for the first time. The characters and the setting of The Captain's Doll arose out of Lawrence's visit to Austria in summer 1920. Dieter Mehl gives all three composition histories, including Lawrence's wish to have them published together, problems with typists, and in publication there is also an appendix on the models for the two main characters and the setting of The Fox.

Set during the First World War, The Fox is the story of Banford and March, two women who live and work together on a farm, unmarried. In their late twenties, the two expect to remain spinsters and thus have settled into a routine life of farm work. When a wily fox begins to make trouble on their farm, the pair set out to do away with it. But when March comes face to face with the fox, she finds she cannot harm it. HarperPerennial Classics brings great works of literature to life in digital format, upholding the highest standards in ebook production and celebrating reading in all its forms.
