in the present volume elliott addresses the most extensive sources of evil eye belief in antiquity the cultures of greece and rome in this period features of the belief found in mesopotamian and egyptian sources are expanded to the point where an evil eye belief complex becomes apparent this complex of features associated with the evil eye human eye as key organ of information eye as active not passive eye as channel of emotion and dispositions especially envy arising in the heart possessors victims defensive strategies and amulets is essential to an understanding of the literary references to the evil eye this volume along with chapter 2 of volume 1 sets and illuminates the context for examining evil eye belief and practice in the bible and the biblical communities the focus of volume 3 in women in their place jorunn Økland takes the archaeological remains at corinth as a starting point from which to develop an interdisciplinary theoretically informed reading of paul s utterances on women in 1 corinthians 11 14 in this section of the letter paul deals with the ritual gatherings and describes the ekklisia as a of ritual space distinct from domestic space Økland assesses the text within a larger context of four different gender models found in temple architecture rituals and literary texts whilst paul s teaching in the letter effectively engendered church as male space his use of a variety of gender models left early christian women with many other notions of ritual space to explore mark sheridan an expert in early christianity explores how ancient christian theologians interpreted scripture in order to address the problem of attributing human characteristics and emotions to god this book examines the little understood end of art theses of hegel nietzsche and danto the end of art claim is often associated with the end of a certain standard of taste or skill however at a deeper level it relates to a transformation in how we philosophically understand our relation to the world hegel nietzsche and danto each strive philosophically to overcome cartesian dualism redrawing the traditional lines between mind and matter hegel sees the overcoming of the material in the ideal nietzsche levels the two worlds into one and danto divides the world into representing and non representing material these attempts to overcome dualism necessitate notions of the self that differ significantly from traditional accounts the redrawn boundaries show that art and philosophy grasp essential but different aspects of human existence neither perspective however fully grasps the duality the appearance of art s end occurs when one aspect is given priority for hegel and danto it is the essentialist lens of philosophy and in nietzsche s case the transformative power of artistic creativity thus the book makes the case that the end of art claim is avoided if a theory of art links the internal practice of artistic creation to all of art s historical forms a lively and engaging account of the leading ladies of imperial rome from the foundation of the empire to the third century ad and a postscript on the fourth century it is illustrated by 416 coin photographs as well as a dozen striking portraits by the author and will thus be an indispensable resource for historians art historians and numismatists in addition to its wider appeal
